NATIONAL WOMEN'S SELECTOR

BACKGROUND

Cricket Ireland is the governing body for the game at both performance and participation levels throughout All-Ireland, representing the interests of both the men's and women's game. The future of Irish Cricket is incredibly bright given the growth of the sport driven by significant success on the international stage in the last decade, development of a first-class domestic structure, women's Super 3's and a national academy supported by long-term commercial funding.

These attributes have put Ireland firmly on the radar of ICC which is currently considering a major revamp of international cricket structures which could see Ireland playing all three formats of the game at the highest level for the foreseeable future (subject to approval). The Ireland women's team are ranked 10th in ODI and T20 International Women's cricket and have in the last year so defeated South Africa and Bangladesh in both ODI's and T20I's. The team's ambition is to become part of the ICC Women's Championship by 2021.

In July Ireland competes in the ICC Women's World T20 Qualifier and a chance for the team to head to the ICC Women's World T20 in West Indies in November 2018.

Cricket Ireland is seeking a new national women's selector to help ensure Ireland selects its best players ready to take to the world stage and to be as successful as they can be. The successful candidate will report into the Chair of Selectors.

The position is a voluntary position for an initial two-year term commencing July 2018, and will require the candidate to attend up to eight meetings annually, which will usually take place in the CI head offices in North Dublin or at a place convenient to the other Selectors.
